EMPOWERING HEALTHCARE PROFESSIONALS

Dive into the Healthmi's In-Service Training Program for Healthcare Professionals, dedicated to enhancing care for migrants!

This new project's result aims at equipping health professionals, social workers, and individuals involved in migrant social integration with the tools and knowledge needed to effectively address the diverse health needs of migrants while fostering cultural sensitivity and inclusivity within healthcare services.

HealthMi

COURSE CONTENTS

The training program encompasses nine modules tailored to address the unique needs of migrants:

- National Health Issues
- Epidemiological Picture of Migrants
- Enforcing Intercultural Competences and Diversity Sensitivity
- Medical, Social, and Psychological Aspects of Migrant Health
- Stress Identification among Migrants
- Inclusion, Wellbeing, and Mental Health
- Communicable Diseases, Hygiene & Safety
- Covid-19 and Its Impact on Migrants
- Public Service Interpreting Standards (PSI)

INSIGHTS FROM THE PILOT TESTING

Each partner organised training sessions, to test the content of the developed materials, holding several sessions for a total of 15 participants, including social workers, healthcare providers, migrant center managers, and other stakeholders involved in migrant health support.

Feedback from participants during the pilot sessions has been instrumental in refining and adapting our training curriculum to better meet the evolving needs of healthcare professionals. We've incorporated suggestions for enhancing modules, optimizing learning methodologies, and tailoring content to resonate with diverse cultural contexts.

IMPLEMENTATION PROCESS

- Design and Development: The course has been structured to meet the learning outcomes and training guidelines necessary for skill development among healthcare and social care professionals.
- Translation: The course materials has been into partner languages (Spanish, Greek, Italian and Polish) to ensure accessibility across all participating countries.
- Pilot Testing and Adjustment: Pilot sessions in each partner country has been conducted to refine the course content and ensure its efficacy in addressing the needs of healthcare professionals.
