The School+Family Alliance Handbook for Teachers

The School+Family Alliance Handbook for Teachers is a key resource for educators to strengthen school-family partnerships and reduce early school dropout. Prepared in collaboration with Sofia University, Athens Lifelong Learning Institute, Aproximar, Growth Coop, PRISM, and Ege University, this comprehensive guide provides teachers with valuable, research-based recommendations, strategies, and activities to foster stronger collaboration with families.

Parental Involvement

Key chapters in the handbook explore various aspects of parental involvement, including its benefits and barriers, the crucial role teachers play in engaging families, and practical advice for creating effective school-family action plans. The handbook also emphasizes the unique needs of each school, providing tailored strategies for strengthening the school-family alliance and supporting students' holistic development.

Supportive educational environments

Through clear guidance on fostering parental engagement, identifying challenges that contribute to student dropout, and providing actionable solutions, this handbook aims to empower educators to create more inclusive and supportive educational environments.
